A.E. Dairy Exceeds Customer Expectations

A.E. Dairy announced that all products will be r-bST Free effective February 1, 2008. The r-bST supplement (recombinant bovine somatotropin) is a synthetic version of the naturally occurring protein hormone already present in milk. This supplement is used by some dairy farmers to increase milk production in their herds. While no scientific evidence has shown that r-bST is harmful to people, in response to customer requests we have chosen to use raw milk that is completely r-bST Free. It is very important to us to exceed customer expectations as part of our commitment to our “Ridiculously High Standards.”
